New twist to MEX II sukuk holders feud

The case brought by holders of the Sukuk Murabahah issued by highway operator MEX II Sdn Bhd against various parties, including MEX II, has taken another twist, with new reasons surfacing for the delay in the construction of the highway.

MEX II, which is now in receivership, is the MEX II Highway concessionaire and is wholly-owned by Maju Lingkar Development Sdn Bhd, which in turn is wholly-owned by Maju Holdings Sdn Bhd, a company controlled by businessman Tan Sri Abu Sahid Mohamed.

The sukuk holders had on Dec 15, 2025 filed a suit against MEX II, Maju Lingkar Development, Maju Holdings, Abu Sahid and other parties alleging that they had breached their statutory duties and caused a delay in the construction of the MEX II Highway.

In their defence and counterclaim filed with the courts, Abu Sahid and Maju Holdings claimed that on March 28, 2019, Jabatan Kerja Raya Daerah Sepang (JKR Sepang), under the Works Ministry, had issued a stop-work order, directing that work on the construction of the MEX II Highway be halted, which resulted in delays to its construction. – The Edge Malaysia

Malaysia among most resilient emerging markets, says Moody's

Malaysia is among the most resilient emerging markets in navigating recent global financial shocks, supported by strong policies and relatively stable market conditions, according to Moody's Ratings.

In a report released today, the global rating agency said Malaysia, rated A3 with a stable outlook, is among several large emerging market economies demonstrating solid resilience across key market indicators.

"Malaysia, India, Thailand, Indonesia and Mexico have consistently shown market resilience," it said, adding that increases in credit spreads were limited and short-lived, yield differentials between emerging markets and the United States (US) remained moderate, and exchange rate movements were contained.

It said that while market volatility rose during periods of stress, it remained controlled and lower than in weaker economies, indicating that adjustments were driven mainly by typical interest rate and currency movements rather than deeper financial stress.

"Market access was preserved throughout, and stress was absorbed without prolonged disruption across market channels. – Free Malaysia Today

Treasury yields ease as investors assess Iran war's impact on economic outlook

U.S. Treasury yields eased slightly on Tuesday after spiking the previous session, as concerns about higher energy costs caused by the Middle East conflict continue to grip markets.

The yield on the 10-year Treasury note — a key barometer for U.S. government borrowing — was seen 2 basis points lower at 4.426%. The yield on the shorter-term 2-year Treasury note, which closely tracks interest rate decisions by the Federal Reserve, moved lower by more than 2 basis points to 3.94%.

The 30-year Treasury yield slipped more than 3 basis points to 4.993%. Traders continue to monitor how the ongoing geopolitical strife is shaping the economic picture in the U.S.

West Texas Intermediate futures dropped 3.9% to close at $102.27 per barrel on Tuesday, as skirmishes around the Strait of Hormuz and Iranian strikes on the United Arab Emirates threaten to unravel the precarious ceasefire agreement between the U.S. and Iran. – CNBC
